Dear families,

We hope you managed to have a break and take some time to relax with your loved ones over half term. As the current lockdown continues, it is essential for us all take some time to rest and recuperate.

As you may be aware, our Prime Minister, Boris Johnson, will be making a speech tonight on the return of children to school settings. Once we have digested the news, we will take time to reflect on this announcement and ensure we put plans together, which are well-prepared and effective for our school community.

To support the children's return, it will be of paramount importance for us all to work closely together to ensure our school vision and values are at the forefront of school life.

We want to continue to give our children the very best opportunity to achieve especially as times have been so difficult over the past 12 months. We know that being a team and learning together will help achieve these results. It will be crucial for us all to display our school values daily so let's ensure we show the highest of expectations; persevere in all that we do; trust each other; show respect to everybody; be responsible and above all enjoy the opportunities we are given in life.

We can't wait to have you all back in our school family and look forward to happier times ahead.

Take care #teamankermoor.

Stay safe,

Simon Russell
